- There is normal-ness and appropriateness to critically examining one's faith. For some it happens once in life, for others it is a reoccurring experience. One thing that marks our time in history is an escalation of Christians critically examining their faith as well as an eruption of non-Christians who are critically examining their faith and spiritual reality, however that may look. This is a fertile time for the truth of Christ to be shared. Unfortunately the building of the Church is often not a place people go to search. Connect is one way that Living Waters Covenant Church is seeking to meet the needs of those who desire to find answers to their questions and desire to grow into the person they are created to be. At Connect, we value intentionally seeing the Church active outside the walls of the building and the time frame of our corporate worship. Friends and neighbors are searching to grow in Christ and/or learn more about Christ, but are often doing so through personal relationships. You, as a disciple of Christ, are the way that others will know the authenticity and power of the one true God.
